

ENVIRONMENTAL POLICY

Technicolor Pty Ltd is Australia's largest manufacturer of DVD's and CD's serving the home entertainment market. Technicolor's client base consists of leading content owners and licensees.

We recognise our environmental responsibility, and are committed to conducting our business in a manner that achieves the protection of the environment.

In this pursuit of environmental care, we will apply the following:

- Comply with relevant environmental legislation, regulations, licences, and other necessary requirements.
- Eliminate or minimise the environmental impact of its manufacturing processes, facilities, and technologies.
- Prevention of pollution.
- Minimise the use of materials and energy and the generation of waste and harmful emissions. Where practicable, to promote efficiency in packaging, recycling and reuse.
- Provide the necessary information and training to encourage our employees and contractors to be environmentally responsible.
- Implement programs to review, monitor and measure environmental performance with an aim to achieve continual improvement.

September 2010

Simon Hibbins
VP HES Asia Pacific
Australia Country Head

Ian Fyles-Clinton
Director of Finance &
Business Development

David Harris
DMS Manager

Hari Nair
Operations Manager, Alexandria

Trevor Smith
Operations Manager, Braeside

Peter Bianchino
Operations Support Manager

Carole Gunn
National Customer Service Manager

Alastair Jacob
Human Resources Manager