

OCCUPATIONAL HEALTH & SAFETY POLICY

Technicolor has an ongoing commitment to provide safe systems of work to ensure that as far as reasonably practicable, a safe working environment is maintained.

Resources, skills and training will be provided for managers, supervisors and employees to meet all Occupational Health & Safety statutory obligations, legal requirements, accident compensation and rehabilitation policies and procedures.

Managers and supervisors are therefore responsible and accountable for ensuring through the process of identification, assessment and control, workplace exposures are effectively controlled.

We recognise that the development and maintenance of a safe and healthy workplace involves the commitment of all staff.

Employees are also expected to meet their obligation to protect their own health and safety at work and to avoid adversely affecting the health and safety of others at work.

May 2010